

A man, John Larkin, stands next to a dark Mini car. The car has 'Shell SPORT' on the windshield and 'Shell SuperOil' on the hood. The ground in front of the car is covered with numerous trophies and awards. The text 'When it comes to Autotests, John's the Governor.' is overlaid on the image.

When it comes to Autotests, John's the Governor.

John Larkin, Chairman of the British Trial and Rally Drivers' Autotest Association. Also, winner of many of the Association's Autotests (which he helps to devise).

John chooses the oil that winners keep under their bonnets. His penchant for being number one leaves him no option.
